Description

The “CU” 3rd generation XtraSafe® food safety utility knife is a completely disposable utility knife developed for the food service and food processing industries. The blade never needs to be handled or changed. The entire knife is disposed of or recycled back to Spellbound when the blade dulls.

Goal: Minimize all loose razor blades and the issues related to loose blades in the workplace. These issues include: product batch contamination from blades ending up in food and food type products served to consumers; lacerations from handling blades; broken and parts of blade pieces ending up in consumable products sold by the end users.

Composition

- Body: High impact opaque copolymer
- Blade Guard: High Impact transparent co-polymer

The body and blade guard contain the following properties:

Fatigue resistance, resistance to creep, resistance to friction and wear, wide range of working temperature, high tolerance to organic chemicals and alkalis, long-term dimensional stability, excellent thermal stability and strong resistance to alkalis

- Blade: The blade composition is a specially formulated stainless steel that resists shattering, chipping and corrosion.

Shipping

The CU safety utility knife may be safely shipped via ground, ocean and air carriers and is packaged to insure product integrity. No special handling or temperatures are necessary.

Storage

The CU safety utility knife may be stored either in standard warehousing or refrigerated storage. The entire knife is dishwasher and sanitizer safe.

Shelf Life

The CU safety utility knife is non-perishable.
